GUIDELINES!

Due to the new rules regarding the fulfilment of the conditions of the novitiate and changes in the calculation of the average speed, the following guidelines for the organisation of national competitions APPLY:

In principle, the unchanged rules for the organisation of national competitions in endurance riding have been valid since 2013. However, due to the above-mentioned changes in the FEI rules for endurance, international rules must also be observed in national competitions (especially in qualifying competitions).

This is the calculation of the average speed in individual laps as well as in the race as a whole. (Art. 838, FEI endurance rules)

Basically, it is a calculation of the speed from the net driving time on the bike, which does not include the so-called recovery time. Similar to how it was until now when calculating the speed in the last lap of the race. In the FEI rules, from July 1, 2020, the maximum entry time to the veterinary clinic was also changed to 15 minutes after individual rounds and to 20 minutes after arriving at the finish line. It is not yet necessary to change the maximum presentation time in national competitions. However, the average speed must be calculated from the net time on the track, and racers who need to meet the conditions of the novitiate and maintain a speed lower than 16 km/h must be aware of this fact and also count on the fact that the speed. The speed of 16 km/h must not be exceeded in any round. This new rule about observing the average speed must also be applied in national competitions in the ZL category (40–59 km), which are run in Slovakia at a limited speed of 10–16 km/h. It must be calculated as I have already mentioned several times with the clear time on the track and not included in calculations and time for the so-called recovery RECOVERY TIME!
